AT JUNEE.

JUNEE, Thursday.

At a quarter to four to-day, the "toot-tooting" of the railway engines and the ringing of the fire-bell, coupled with the shouting of a number of citizens, brought forth the residents in large numbers expecting to see the smoke of a fire. But a more pleasant sight was to be observed, the clear-sky acting as a fine background as Guillaux, the famous aviator, came parallel with the railway line in the direction of Wagga, flying as evenly as a hawk when soaring aloft. It was a sight that impressed the citizens immensely. After flying parallel with the railway line until opposite the central railway gates, he made a turn towards Hlabo, passing over the hospital.

TWO MILES A MINUTE.

HARDEN, Thursday.

M. Guillaux flew from Junee to Harden (61 miles) in thirty one minutes.

"He always takes a great deal of interest." "Enthusiastic worker, eh?"
"No, pawnbroker."
